Readiness Score

Retirement Readiness uses the info in your Retirement Profile. Make sure it's complete and accurate.

Retirement Readiness shouldn't be the sole basis for retirement planning. Estimates are hypothetical, don't reflect actual investment results, and aren't guarantees of future results. Potential savings results vary with each use and over time.

Take the worry out of meeting your retirement goals:

Your Readiness Score can help you determine if you are on track to meet your retirement expectations and achieve your savings goals based on your current total savings. Complete your Retirement Profile to personalize your experience. To change your projected outcome, you can also adjust the following:

- Your retirement age
- The state you will retire in
- Your retirement lifestyle
- Adding outside savings
- Your monthly Social Security Income
- Adding your Health Savings Account information

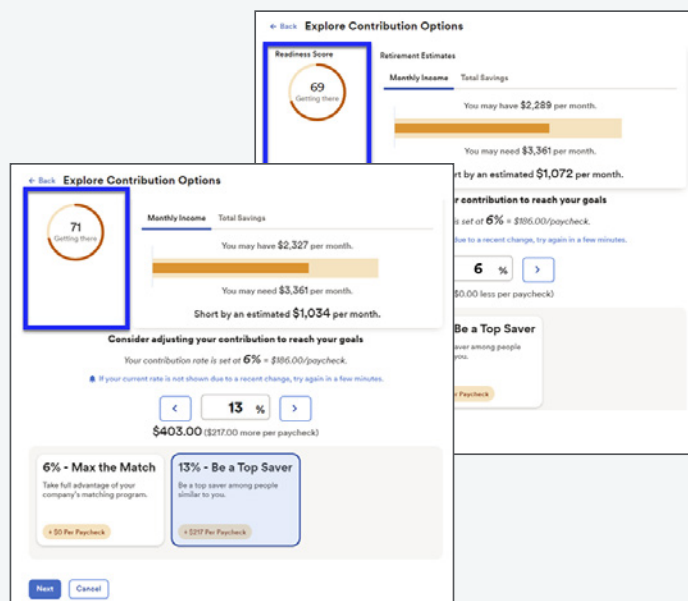

Make sure you're staying financially fit by taking full advantage of all the features in your retirement plan.

Retirement Readiness makes no assumption about your tax status, savings, early withdrawal penalties, required minimum distributions and should not be used as the primary basis for any planning decisions. The likelihood of various retirement savings outcomes are hypothetical, do not reflect actual investment results, or market fluctuations and are not guarantees of future results. It does not portray actual investment results or guarantee future results. Results for potential savings scenarios may vary with each use and over time. The information used by Retirement Readiness to make projections is your age, current annual compensation, account balance, retirement age, retirement state, additional savings information, and deferral rate, which are all inputs that can be changed to present different scenarios. Retirement Readiness is provided for educational purposes only to understand retirement preparedness by continued participation in a retirement.
